

Review of National Geographic Films

Our Dynamic Earth, 1979 28 minutes some good, some fair animated footage showing plate tectonics (not as good as on OCEANUS series from Coast Telecourses) clearly a general TV program and not a focused single subject or narrow subject film footage relatively well coordinated with narration - it does illustrate points being made. (ie, narration is relatively specific and can be tied to specific visuals)
